Saint Patrick

A patron saint is a saint who looks after and guides a person or place. Saint Patrick is the patron saint of Ireland and is very special to many Irish people.

Early Life

Not much is known for certain about Saint Patrick because he lived such a long time ago. He is thought to have been born in the fifth century in a town along the west coast of Britain. His family were thought to be very wealthy and religious but Patrick was not religious himself.

Patrick's Capture and Escape

When Patrick was 16 years old, he was taken to Ireland by a group of Irish pirates. He was made to work as an enslaved person. During this time, he began to pray to God.

After six years of being enslaved, Patrick heard a voice telling him that he would be able to go home soon because a ship was waiting for him.

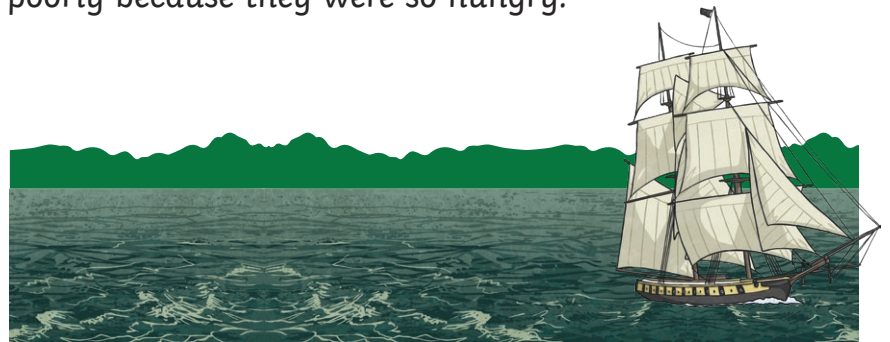

That night, Patrick ran away from where he was being kept. He found a ship and its captain reluctantly agreed to take Patrick away from Ireland.

The Wild Boar

The boat reached Britain three days later. Patrick and the crew all left the ship. They are said to have walked through the forest for 28 days and they began to feel poorly because they were so hungry.

Patrick told the ship's crew to put their faith in God. He prayed that they would find something to eat soon. Soon after Patrick had prayed, the crew found a group of wild pigs roaming in the forest. Patrick knew that his prayers had been answered.
