Cognates

One of the ways we can understand another language is by looking for words that are similar or the same as English. These words are called cognates.

There are many cognates in this topic. What sport do you think 'le rugby' is? BEWARE! They may not sound the same!

Recall:

Can you remember what these words mean?

La bouche La tête
La dent L'oreille
Le bras Le nez
Les yeux

I have forgotten that French adjectives usually come after the noun. What mistake have I made here?

Mon monstre a six violettes dents.
