

LO: To recognise conductors and insulators of electricity.

What kinds of materials will conduct electricity?

Can you give an example of something you would use in the kitchen, which needs to conduct electricity?

What kinds of materials will not conduct electricity?

Can you give an example of something you would use in the kitchen, which needs to not conduct electricity?

Why are insulators important?

