If you spend time thinking about how to start a new paragraph, you can deliberately choose words in your first sentence that will link it directly to the previous paragraph. This makes it clearer for the reader.

Have a look through your reading books at home. See how the authors use different adverbial phrases to start new paragraphs. Find some examples and add them to the table below. This will give you a list of great adverbial phrases that you can use when completing your own independent writing.

_____, a new lion was brought to the zoo to help increase their dwindling number. The lion's name was Terence. He had a regal face and a mighty mane of fur – he was sure to bring in many visitors to the zoo.

_____, Terence had to be kept away from large crowds (and even other lions) until he became familiar with his new surroundings. For a period of time, he was kept in an enclosure of his own, which wasn't visible to the public. The zookeepers kept a strict eye on him throughout this period to check that he was healthy and happy.

_____, he was moved to a new enclosure next to the other lions in the zoo, which was also now visible to the public. In this enclosure, he had his own wooden platform to climb and peruse his surroundings. He would often sit, staring longingly at the lionesses on the other side of the fence that separated their two enclosures. Frequently, Terence and the lionesses would greet each other by the fence. They walked in tandem along their own sides of the fence and sniffed the air to catch each other's scent.

_____, the zookeepers thought that Terence was ready to be introduced to the same enclosure as the lionesses. It was a nerve-racking day for them! Initially, they took out the female lions and let Terence in on his own to become familiar with his new surroundings. Then, the females entered the enclosure... the meeting with Terence and the lionesses was a huge success and they have been together ever since.

_____, Terence is a settled and happy lion, who enjoys being in his new enclosure with a pride to call his own.

_____, a man stood peering through the glass at the dazzling jewellery on display. Should he buy the silver brooch his wife wanted? It was on special offer so he decided to enter the building.

Once you have sequenced the pictures in the order that you want, add an adverbial phrase to each picture that you will use to start that paragraph. You could use the adverbial phrases you have already come across in this booklet or some of your own.
