L.O: To write a recipe

Today you will read a WAGOLL revolting recipe, answer questions and then plan your own recipe so you are ready for writing tomorrow.

Task 1

Read the WAGOLL revolting recipe. Recap yesterday's learning and highlight the imperative (bossy) verbs. Once you have read the recipe, answer the questions about the recipe.

Slimy Sandwiches

This quick recipe feeds 3 hungry witches and makes a tasty midday snack.

Ingredients

- A pint of sour milk
- 501 grams of dandruff
- A handful of horse hair
- 2 pairs of rats' eyeballs
- 2 slices of stale mouldy bread
- 250g of sugar
- A teaspoon of bats' blood
- 13g of crushed toe nail clippings

Equipment

- Weighing scales
- Teaspoon
- A large cauldron
- A wooden mixing spoon
- A small serving plate
- A small knife

Method

1. Gather all your equipment and ingredients together. Remember to wash your hands before you start preparing and cooking.
2. Firstly, make sure you have the correct quantities of all the ingredients in advance. You will need to weigh the dandruff, sugar and toe nail clippings carefully.
3. Begin by pouring the pint of sour milk and the 501 grams of dandruff into the cauldron. Use a wooden spoon to gently mix these ingredients together.
4. Next, add the horse hair to the mixture and stir thoroughly for 3 minutes. (There should be no lumps present in the mixture).
5. Gently place the rats' eyeballs into the cauldron, one at a time. These will add texture and flavour to your sandwich filling.
6. After that, add 250 grams of sugar into the mixture to sweeten it. Stir slowly until the mixture becomes a thick paste. You are nearly ready to serve!
7. Lastly, place the 2 slices of stale mouldy bread on a small serving plate. Use a small knife to spread the mixture between the slices.

Chef's Tip: For extra flavour smother your sandwich in bat's blood, add a sprinkle of crushed toe nail clippings and serve chilled

Revolting Recipes!

Questions

1. What does the recipe make?
 2. How many witches does the recipe feed?
 3. How many grams of dandruff are required to make the slimy sandwiches?
 4. What quantity of bat's blood does the recipe require?
 5. What are we advised to do before we start preparing and cooking the slimy sandwiches?
 6. What equipment do we have to use to mix and stir the mixture?
 7. Adverbs are words which describe verbs (e.g. in the sentence 'the boy ran quickly', quickly is an adverb because it describes the way the boy ran).
- See how many adverbs you can find in the revolting recipe. Write them down.
8. What does the Chef recommend that we do to enhance the flavour of the sandwiches?

Task 2

Roald Dahl loved to make up disgusting foods in his stories. Choose one of the imaginary foods from Roald Dahl's books from the list below (or you can make up your own) .

- Stink Bugs' Eggs (James and the Giant Peach)
- Crispy Wasp Stings on a Piece of Buttered Toast (James and the Giant Peach)
- Fresh Mudburgers (James and the Giant Peach)
- Hot Frogs (James and the Giant Peach)
- Lickable Wallpaper (Charlie and the Chocolate Factory)
- Froboscottle (A green drink - The BFG)
- Eatable Marshmallow Pillows (Charlie and the Chocolate Factory)
- Stickjaw for Talkative Parents (Charlie and the Chocolate Factory)

Using the planning sheet, plan your ideas ready for tomorrow.

If you have time, draw a labelled diagram of your food.

Revolting Recipes!

What recipe will you be writing? Be creative! (e.g. snake scallops, tongue trifle or choose one of the Roald Dahl ideas)

What disgusting and imaginative ingredients you could use? (e.g. bat's breath, crows' claws) Bullet point as many ideas as possible.

▪ What equipment you would need to make the recipe? (e.g. wooden spoon, weighing scales etc)

▪ What imperative verbs will you use? Bullet point as many ideas as possible (e.g. chop, slice, bake etc)
